Halton Chamber Networker of the Year

Solicitor Margaret Evans has been voted Halton Chamber of Commerce Networker of the Year.

Margaret, who is a commercial partner at Forshaws Davies Ridgway LLP, was presented with a certificate and a bottle of pink champagne at the monthly network event, held at Runcorn's Holiday Inn.

As well as providing a full commercial legal service, Margaret also offers specialist support packages for new start-up businesses and will be leading a number of legal workshops for Halton Chamber members.

Chris Lincoln, from the Heath School, was runner-up.

Paula Cain, CEO of Halton Chamber, said: "It was a closely fought contest, but Margaret just pipped Chris to the post. Although the Networker of the Month feature spot has now been replaced by two minute Member Spotlights, Networker of the Year will still be celebrated. It's vital that we continue to emphasize the importance of networking in business and we will, therefore, be asking our 1stuesday attendees to nominate one of their colleagues, whom they believe is a great networker, each month for a final vote at the end of the year."

Margaret added: "It's fantastic to win this award which was voted on by my fellow businessmen and women. As a community-based solicitor practice, it is vital to get out into the business world and meet people. It helps to de-mystify the legal world and people are often surprised by the range of issues we can assist them with."

Forshaws Davies Ridgway has offices in Frodsham, Stockton Heath and Warrington, where Margaret is based.
